Ancient knotting techniques, hand-painted, embroidered or screen-printed decorations, watercolour effects: the evocative summer atmospheres of the Made-in-Italy carpet collection, in which Battilossi design combines with skilled Sardinian craftsmanship, are on display at the Texture Library in Via dell'Orso in Milan.

A few months after the presentation of the Ge-Technique collection designed by STORAGEMILANO at Fuorisalone 2024, starting from July 11, the Battilossi Texture Library will be renewed to unveil the secrets of the Made-in-Italy collection: a collection of carpets that highlights the mastery of ancient Sardinian weaving.

Made-in-Italy reinterprets some arcane and mysterious techniques of this precious textile heritage, characterised by the more or less evident irregularity of the yarn and grain weaving, blending them with original Battilossi designs that merge classical, figurative and naturalistic motifs with abstract and essential elements, in a poetic and intriguing summer imagery.

This series, a true ode to craftsmanship, once again demonstrates the Turin-based company's ability to enhance and promote centuries-old craft traditions, creating products that can be seamlessly integrated into contemporary interior design projects. This is evidenced by their harmonious inclusion in the moodboard with the Battilossi collection, within a complex and coordinated textile project.
